LEE COUNTY.

Pincastle Cleanings.

John See and family, of Missouri, are visiting relatives in this part of the county.

Pincastle and Torrent base ball clubs played on the latter's grounds here last Sunday, ending in favor of Pincastle.

While the Teachers' Association was going on at St. Helena last Friday, as usual the "bullies" got to full of "hoose", and while the Sheriff and Jailor Joe Strong were commanding the peace, Dan Bowman was shot twice in the hips, which will prove fatal, and Strong was shot slightly in the leg.

Married, on the 23d ult., Walter Kincaid to Miss Margaret Ingram, at the home of the bride. We wish them much success.

Monday morning we bid good morning to "Mr. Jack Frost." We think he came most too early.

Teemuch, would like very much for you to call on the hills of our place once more.

WILD BILL.

MORGAN COUNTY.

Maytown Missiles.

We notice that a great many counties in the State are effecting thorough organization and the outlook for Democratic success in Kentucky is brightening. But what are our leaders in Wolfe and Morgan doing? Are they doing anything to hold our party in line and guarantee a successful Campaign this fall? Our people are just as firm as ever in the principles of Democracy, and with proper organization all dissatisfied could be healed and very soon we would be a united and harmonious people. Why not the Chairmen of Morgan and Wolfe counties call a mass-meeting to meet near the center of this legislative district, (say Maytown or Hazel Green, if not before say the first day of the Hazel Green Fair), for the purpose of establishing harmony in our ranks? A general revival and hand-shaking time, confessions of our misdoings and a renewal of our allegiance to our first love would be consistent and up to date.

Miss Julia Patrick, whose sickness we mentioned last week, we are sorry to say died Tuesday, October 1st.

Mr. John Catron came home from the West a few days since sick with fever and died Monday night.

Mrs. George Phipps is better.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ritchie and Mrs. Admon have just returned from a three weeks' visit to friends and relatives in Floyd county.

T. J. Ritchie has gone to Montgomery county on a business trip.

Card of Thanks.

We desire, through the columns of the Herald to return our thanks and heartfelt gratitude to the ladies of Hazel Green for their many acts of kindness to us and their tender and watchful care over our beloved babe during her protracted illness. Words are inadequate to express our gratitude. We will say that we will ever hold them in grateful remembrance.

Everywhere We Go

We find one who has been cured by Hood's Sassafras, and people on all hands are praising this great medicine for what it has done for them and their friends. Tolerant time Hood's Sassafras prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in healthy condition. It is the great blood purifier.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries them. Two per box.

A good citizen of Powell county, to wit, Gordon Wells, whom Grover Cleveland just pardoned for offenses against the Internal Revenue laws, says he will be here at the Fair and can beat any white man or negro dancing for any sum they care to wager. Now, won't some enterprising citizen erect a platform.

The First Presbyterian church at Mt. Sterling will on next Wednesday, the 9th inst., celebrate its centennial year, and for the occasion has prepared a very elaborate and interesting program, including vocal and instrumental music. Addresses will be delivered by several visiting ministers, and altogether the affair promises to be a very interesting event in the annals of Christian workers.

Following is a list of the ministers for the past one hundred years:

Mr. J. K. Fowler, secretary and treasurer of the Corinne Mill, Canal and Stock Co., of Corinne, Utah, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says: "I consider it the best in the market. I have used many kinds, but find Chamberlain's the most prompt and effective in giving relief, and now keep no other in my home." When troubled with a cough or cold give this remedy a trial and we assure you that you will be more than pleased with the result. For sale by John M. Rose, druggist.

Chas. H. Wallace, of Paris, Ill., is visiting Breck Little, Nathan Combs, Judge Daniel Landaw and Judge Caldwell, of this county. He also visited at Jackson last week and was the guest of Uncle Bill Combs. All of the parties named are relatives of the wife of Mr. Wallace, who was Miss Helen O'Hair, of Swango Station, Ill., and her mother was a daughter of the late Isaac Combs, of this county.

J. T. Day has just added to his training stable a very elegant and beautiful pneumatic sulky.

KENTUCKY ITEMIZED.

A RESUME OF THE IMPORTANT EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

Things of a Newsy Nature Rolled Down to Suit the Convenience of the Hasty Reader—Kentucky Down to Date.

Vegetables are still abundant.
The watermelon is on the wane.

Goose feathers are in demand in this State.

Owingsville is going to have a sanitarium.

Farmers have nearly all finished fall mowing.

Stock is bringing good prices all over the State.

Reports are conflicting regarding the fall crop.

All over the State tobacco cutting is in progress.

Nelson county is quite anxious for free turnpikes.

A flourishing pump factory is in operation in Jackson.

Fall grass has been hurt very much by the continued dry weather.

There are more typhoid fever cases in Kentucky than for many years.

Barn socials are becoming popular in many back country communities.

A large saw mill is to be located in the timber lands of Elliott county.

It's a good time for the young men to take an inventory of their winter wardrobe.

Stock water is hard to get in the drought-stricken district in Eastern Kentucky.

Tobacco growers are rushing their work of housing to save the crop from the frost.

The good spring at Tatham Springs has not gone dry, as has been stated by some one.

Merchants are receiving fall goods, and the outlook for a big trade is very encouraging.

Seventy-three counties in Kentucky have local option or prohibition and "blind tigers."

Many students at Kentucky University pay their way through the college in various ways.

A Louisville man is getting samples of pottery clay in Hancock county and will start a pottery.

A country wiseacre observes that it is a great deal better to have false modesty than none at all.

Eleven head of colts were sold at Springfield last Saturday for an average of $20.12 per head.

The revival at the Georgetown Christian church is one of the most successful ever held in that city.

It is to the credit of Kentucky people that the Trilby craze never gained a foothold in this good State.

Kentucky Sheriffs are after taxpayers with sharp sticks in nearly every county in the "Old Commonwealth."

The low price of sheep this year has caused farmers to take very little interest in breeding for next year.

The gentleman with "views" on all political questions is now letting himself be heard from in the State press.

Jackson capitalists are talking of building about twenty residences. There is not a vacant house in the town.

Wm. Littell, of Owen county, has purchased 151 acres of land near Georgetown, paying for it $15,100 in cash.

When one negro woman called another a measly old program at Shelbyville the other night a desperate fight ensued. The old sister could not bear to be called "a old low down program."

The laying of the corner stone of the new First Christian church at Paducah was a beautiful occasion.

Apple buyers are overrunning Ekron, in Meade county. One man has sold 1,000 barrels to a Louisville firm.

Grayson is going to break up the blind tigers up there. An ordinance for that purpose has just been passed by the Council.

Richmond people are still patiently waiting for something to be done toward the completion of the Government building there.

A Catlettsburg young lady caused much merriment at home one clear night last week by going through the streets with her parol raised.

Round Hill, in Clark county, is built on a prehistoric mound, perhaps the steepest in the State, from which many Indian relics have been dug.

The wall flowers who have been waiting in vain for some eligible young man to propose will have their inning in '96. It is leap year, don't you know.

Grand Master Larue Thomas was given a reception at Maysville one night last week. It was a brilliant social affair and was attended by three hundred people.

Miss Lucille Blackburn, youngest daughter of our Senator, and Mr. Thos. F. Lane were married at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church, in Washington City, last Tuesday, October 1, at 12 o'clock m.

The Republicans are said to be arranging a grand rally, barbecue and round-up for the last week in October. It will be a crackjack, and the Reds expect to set the woods afire in the community where the "whoop-em-up-hurrah" is held.

Another tragedy is reported from the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. Tom Drake, a bad character in Pike county, is said to have shot and killed an unknown man who was selling county rights for a patent fence. This killing was the result of some joking the two men had been indulging in.

Before adjourning court at Frankfort Saturday afternoon Judge Cantrill passed upon the motion for a new trial in the case of the Commonwealth against Richard Suter, who was recently given a life sentence for the killing of Harry Kelley. He overruled the motion. An appeal was taken and the case will be hard fought in the Appellate Court.

The Standard Oil Company has an eye upon Eastern Kentucky as an oil territory full of possibilities. For some time past this great company has had an agent in the mountains buying up leases and examining the territory with a view to sinking wells. The prospects are said to be very good for both oil and gas. Floyd county has already produced several good flowing oil wells and more are being put down all the time. Knott county is said to be in the belt and a well will be sunk near Hindman very soon.

There is one remedy which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel damped with this liniment and bound over the seat of pain will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by John M. Rose, druggist.

MISS CHAPPIE LITTLE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS OF BREATHITT.

She Has Had Many New School Buildings Erected in the County in Spite of Protests From the Citizens.

Miss Chappie Little has the distinction of being the first young lady elected County Superintendent of Schools in Eastern Kentucky. She is a resident of Jackson, Breathitt county, and has already revolutionized things since she took charge of county schools in '94. She has aroused much unfavorable criticism by condemning many old rattle-traps that were used as school houses when she came into office. The cost of erecting new school buildings ranged from $100 to $150 each, and the property owners in many of these school precincts objected to paying for them. This did not disconcert Miss Little, however, who went right ahead and pushed proceedings to enforce the collection of the school house assessments, and as a result it will not be long before Breathitt county will be filled with as good, comfortable school buildings as many of the more pretentious counties in the wealthier portions of the State.

"There are," said Miss Little to the Evening Post a day or two ago, "about 4,000 children in the county between the ages of 6 and 20, and about 2,000 of these attend school. There are sixty-seven white schools and two colored. The salaries of the teachers range from $20 to $50 per month. I have been opposed on every side by the patrons of the schools, who object to paying for new school houses, and who seem to prefer the old, broken down cabins. When I became Superintendent I found one school was held under a shed covered with straw and leaves. In one instance the property owners were so bitter against me that they secured possession of the papers in a condemnation suit that I had brought and burned them up. That, of course, will only cause a little extra trouble. The new school house will be built. I will do my duty, no matter what it costs or how unpopular for a time it may make me. I am sure that my course of action will be recognized as the proper one before long. I can afford to be criticised now, as I shall be thanked for what I have done after my term of office has expired."—Louisville Post.

The Post is in error about Miss Little being the first young lady elected as County Superintendent in Eastern Kentucky.

Miss Lillie Mahan, a daughter of the late Judge Mahan, of Lee county, enjoys the distinction of being the first.

Announcement of the Death of Lelia Vest.

COEBURN, WISE CO., VA.,
Sept. 24, 1896.

Dear little Lelia Vest, daughter of Mr. D. W. and Mrs. Laura Vest, is no more. She departed this life on the 17th inst., about 5 a. m., at her father's house about two miles southeast of Coeburn, being about seven years old. She was taken ill on Friday afternoon, the 12th inst. The attending physician, Dr. Wolfe, pronounced it flux. She had been attending school at Coeburn and had attracted the attention of her teachers by her mild, innocent countenance and her kind, gentle demeanor. Her countenance and conduct seemed to be gentleness and innocence personified. She was not destined to remain long on earth; we fancy that angels were beckoning her home in heaven. The people of this town extend their profound sympathy to the bereaved father and mother of little Lelia.

MY PLAYMATES.

"GENE FIELDS' LATEST POEM.

The wind comes whispering to me of the country green and cool—
Of redwing blackbirds chattering beside a reedy pool;
It brings me soothing fancies of the homestead on the hill,
And I hear the thrush's evening song and the robin's morning trill,
So I fall to thinking tenderly of those I used to know
Where the sassafras and snakeroot and checkerberries grow.

What has become of Ezra Marsh who lived on Baker's Hill?
And what's become of Noble Pratt whose father kept the mill?
And what's become of Lizzie Crum and Anastasia Snell,

And of Roxie Root who tended school in Boston for a spell?
They were the boys and they the girls who shared my youthful play—
They do not answer to their names! My playmates—where are there?

What has become of Levi and his little brother Joe
Who lived next door to where we lived some forty years ago?
I'd like to see the Newton boys and Quincy Adams Brown,
And Hepey Hall and Ella Cowles who spelled the lenders down!
And Gracie Smith, the Butler boys, Leander Snow and all
Who I am sure would answer could they only hear my call!

I'd like to see Bill Warner and the Conkey boys again
And talk about the times we used to wish that we were men!
And one—I shall not name her—could I see her gentle face
And hear her girlish treble in this distant, lonely place!
The flowers and hopes of springtime—they perished long ago
And the gardens where they blossomed is white with winter snow.

O cottage 'neath the maples, have you seen those girls and boys
That but a little while ago made, oh! such pleasant noise?
O trees, and hills, and brooks, and lanes, and meadows, do you know
Where I shall find my little friends of forty years ago?
You see I'm old and weary, and I've traveled long and far;
I am looking for my playmates—I wonder where they are!

Our Glorious Kentucky.

"The Tattler," in the Louisville Times, pays tribute to the Blue Grass State in the following beautiful and graceful lines:

"Artist Mullins, of Lexington, who has done a great deal of work for James Lane Allen and others, is one of our geniuses who has stayed the spirit of Kentucky upon his canvas and enwreathed her with the lights and shadows of his infancy. He now has some of his work on exhibition at Lexington, and an inspection of it would be a rare treat to every son and daughter of the soil. There is nothing so exquisitely beautiful as the lovely pastoral country of ours, the meadows and uplands where the blue grass is waving, and over which the sun rises in fire and goes down in a cloud of roses.

"When the spirit of Kentucky walks abroad in the spring her music is the running waters, dark under the boughs and golden in the light. The sweet songs of the young birds practicing in nature's kindergarten and the thousand vague, indistinguishable voices of the woods. Above her head the leaves show green and delicate as lacework, the velvet moss is flecked with gold, and where the giant boughs arch like the vaulted roof of some dim old cathedral, the skies show fitfully, blue as an infant's eyes or flecked with pink and white clouds blown from the orchards of paradise.

"She sees the glad earth awaking from her long wintry sleep, every tiny blossom breathing the great message of the resurrection and the life, and every bird pouring its untired wings on the edge of the nest, as God shall will to fall or soar and sing.

"Afar gleaming as the meadows of paradise are the uplands, where the blue grass is glimmering in the sun, lifting its banners and flaunting them proudly in the enchanted air.

"And the spirit of Kentucky passes amid such scenes to trace the history of those who have once lived in this arcadia and loved and laughed amid its loveliness.

"But the summer fields invite her. The rose leans over her way and the wild flowers swing their censers at her feet.

"The air is all blue and gold, and mellow as old wine. Out in the open fields, where the faint voices of the laborers are heard at intervals, the brown-winged sparrows are silhouetted against the sky and the soul of sleep haunts the spot. But under the greenwood tree are shadows and dreams. Dreams that pass to an accompaniment of soft-going waters, the fitful falling of leaves and blossoms, the whirl of wings in the long mossy glades. Here, like the lotus eater, she pauses, desiring not to wonder more till the glory fades from about her and the gleam on the blue grass shows brown in the sun.

"Ah, too soon comes the passing of the beautiful! Now, even now, the flame of the golden rod fires the forest's ways and sinuous paths; the country roads are scintillated with great masses of purple ironweed; the river flows along, singing as a child talks in its sleep, and the rose, whose lovely sisters have given their souls to the adoring wind and passed away, sighs sadly for the vanishing summer. Soon, alas! the red torches of the sumach will light the gray skies of autumn and the changing leaves await the mystic touch of the frost.

"Ah, who can wonder that the Kentuckian loves Kentucky, and looks back upon his native State as Orpheus upon his lost Eurydice. Her sons, like Argonauts who seek the golden fleece, hope to return to her before life's sunset, and look forward to an old age of peace and plenty even as an old race horse who has been taken from the turf and turned loose in the green pastures.

"Who, then, can wonder that when one gazes upon the beautiful pictures which the Lexington artist has prisoned on his canvas, that the dying Kentuckian, when informed by his preacher that he was going to a fairer land, expended his last breath declaring that there could not possibly be any better or more beautiful place than his native State."

Is Kentucky a Doubtful State?

The peculiar political conditions that exist in Kentucky have led many people to believe that the state is a doubtful one and that the Republicans have a chance to carry it this fall. For this reason there is great interest, both at home and abroad, in accurate and reliable political news from all parts of the state. The Weekly Courier-Journal is now covering this field perfectly, and it is publishing the news without bias or prejudice. A close reader of the Weekly Courier-Journal should be able to forecast in advance what will be the outcome of the state election next November. In addition to giving all the political news and all the news of every kind, the Weekly Courier-Journal is offering to its subscribers $5,000 in cash presents for guesses as to the exact vote that will be received by the Democratic, Republican and Populist candidates for governor of Kentucky. The price of the paper is only one dollar a year. Sample copies containing full details of the cash present plan will be sent free to any address. Write to Courier-Journal Company, Louisville, Ky.

TALES TWICE TOLD.

"Hair cut?" asked the barber of the small boy. "Yes." "I guess I'll have to shingle you." "No, you don't. That's what pa does every night."

"Experience may be a dear teacher," remarked a clergyman as the contribution box was returned to him empty, "but the members of this particular flock who have experienced religion have accomplished it at a very trifling cost. The choir will now sing the seventy-ninth hymn, omitting the first, third and fourth verses in order to save unnecessary wear on the organ."

At an examination of theology conducted by four grinding professors, the un lucky candidate, whose parents had determined to force him to holy orders, was thus apostrophized: "Unfortunately young man, you are then incapable of citing to us a single text of the sacred gospel?" "Yes, indeed," said the patient young man, "I remember one—that of the Apocalypse: 'And I looked and beheld before me four great beasts.'"

The negro chairman of a convention in Arkansas recently rendered a decision of which my white ward politician might well be proud. Several members were clamoring for recognition. "Who's got de flo?" demanded a delegate. "Nobler mine who's got de flo. Keep on axin' yer unpovmentary questions an' yer soon 'll hab de flo—hab all ob lit dat yer kin kiver. I takes dis heah mofed for to 'nounce myself de nominees for county jedge. All in favor ob de measure will make known by sa'in 'I,' and dose opposed will please gin up dar seats for pussons whut's got more sense. De 'I's hab it."

Preaching in the Abbey, Canon Wilberforce told a good story of the celebrated Welsh Preacher, Christmas Evans, who dared publicly to express his thankfulness for Jenny Lind's beautiful singing. A member of his congregation, a straight-laced Calvinist, standing on the steps of the pulpit, asked the preacher whether a man dying at one of Jenny Lind's concerts would go to heaven. "Sir," replied Mr. Evans, "a Christian will go to heaven wherever he dies, but a fool remains a fool even on the pulpit steps." Even the sober Abbey congregation could hardly still its enjoyment of this repartee.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stopping of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiate, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO-CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURO. IT WILL STOP YOU WHEN TO STOP and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An iron clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30 day treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago today I commenced using your preparation, and today I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every nicotine addict fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" quite wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours very truly, C. W. HOBBS.

GODSEY.

The Friends of Henry L. Godsey Are Said to be Promoting Him For Congress.

From the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Times of Sept. 29, we clip the following complimentary notice of a bright young Democrat and one of the coming men of the district:

"If Joe Kondall has any idea of making the race for Congress next year he had better get up and hustle, for they say that Henry L. Godsey, of Hazel Green, Superintendent of the Stamp Vault, Internal Revenue Bureau, is being groomed for the race this early in the campaign by some very prominent Democrats in the Tenth district. Godsey of late has been receiving some very encouraging letters from the district, and his friends say he can beat anybody in the field for the nomination."

"The speeches he made in the campaign last year won him lots of friends who have already pledged him their support. Godsey is thoroughly posted on the duties of a Congressman, having been private secretary to the late Congressman Lisle and his successor, Judge Becker."

"Here is what the Evening News said about him the other day: 'H. L. Godsey, of Hazel Green, Ky., Superintendent of the Stamp Vault, Internal Revenue Bureau, said to a party of friends this morning in the lobby of the Big House that he had received several letters recently from prominent Democrats in the eastern part of the State to the effect that the silver and gold men had burned their differences and would give united support to the ticket. Gen. Hardin, Mr. Godsey said, has disappointed the men who nominated him, and his treatment of the financial plank of the State platform has caused all the trouble. 'But,' said he, 'we can't afford to turn the State over to the Republicans simply because the Democratic nominee does not agree with the majority of his party on the money question. Gen. Hardin will be elected with a safe majority.'"

"Mr. Godsey, who will enter the fight for the Congressional nomination in the Tenth Kentucky district next year, will leave in a few weeks for Kentucky and make several speeches for the State ticket."

Boarding School Candy.

The girls of one of our Eastern colleges have a novel method of candy making, which deserves to be known outside their magic circle, especially as the results are particularly delicious.

They take a sheet of heavy glazed writing paper and turn up the four edges to a depth of about three-fourths of an inch. Into this box they pour a cupful of white sugar and a very little water and set it on top of the stove. One would think the paper would burn, but it does not. The sugar boils up charmingly and looks tempting enough in its dainty receptacle.

When it is nearly done a drop or two of flavoring is added, or just before taking from the fires some nut meats are strewn over its surface. It is then taken off the stove and set to float in its paper box in a bowl or basin of cold water. When cold, it should be brittle, and then the paper can be peeled off and a dainty square of toothsome candy is the reward.

It is great fun to make it and will surprise your friends if they chance to see it boiling in its paper box.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The story has been revived at Covington that Congressman A. S. Berry is a candidate for the United States Senate.

She Chews.

Physicians report a strange case existing near Lynn, Greenup county, it being that of a Miss Drake, aged sixteen years, who has acquired such an ungovernable appetite for tobacco that it bids fair to destroy her unless she soon obtains relief. She began using the weeds in small quantities about a year ago and so fast did the habit grow upon her that in three months she was consuming ten pounds of leaf tobacco a week. Her parents became alarmed and forced her to discontinue its use, but so great was her suffering that she twice attempted suicide.

For the past six months she has used four pounds every month, having a large clew in her mouth at all times when she is not eating, even sleeping with a quid under her tongue. She is emaciated to mere skeleton, having lost forty-five pounds in a light shoe. She began the use of the weed. The doctors have tried every known remedy to destroy the appetite, but without success.

KENTUCKY.

Kentucky was able to match every visiting Colonel during the recent encampment with one of her own manufacturers. Great is the Bourbon Commonwealth.—Lafayette Journal.

The English demand for Kentucky canned coal is so large that the mines will be kept busy for the next year. The English will discover Kentucky Bourbon on one of these days, and then there will be no supplying the demand.—Pittsburg Times.

We notice that wine was circulated at the banquet of the Kentucky editors. The man who drinks wine in Kentucky simply loses time and falls behind the procession.—Washington Post.

"Written on an old order book in the Hardin County Court records," says the Larue County Herald, "is the following entry: 'May 14, 1811. Thomas Lincoln is hereby appointed overseer in place of George Redmond, of that part of the Nolin and Bardston dirt road lying between the foot of the big hill and the Rolling Fork.' This order is of historic value, inasmuch as it is a corroboration of the statements made by an old citizen as to Abe Lincoln's birthplace. The entry proves that Abraham Lincoln's father left the farm now known as the Lincoln Park when Abe was five years old. The road referred to was discontinued many years ago, and was in the eastern end of the county."

Persons claiming to represent the Standard Oil Company are leasing large tracts of land in the counties of Breathitt and Knott, and propose boring for oil on an extensive scale at a very early date. Since striking such an immense flow from the six wells already sunk on Beaver creek, in Floyd county, the oil fever has been at white heat in certain circles throughout that section of the country, and each new turn of the oil men is watched with a great deal of anxiety.

A New York Central train one day last week ran from Albany to Syracuse, 148 miles, in 182 minutes, at the rate of sixty-two and one-half miles an hour. It also ran a special train between the same points at the rate of 68.3 miles an hour, breaking all records for the distance.

At Dubuque, Ia., last week John R. Gentry defeated Joe Patchen in three straight heats, going the last in 2:09, the fastest of the season, and the fastest third heat ever paced or trotted.

Democrats.

The Democrats of the respective voting precincts of this county will take notice that on next Saturday new precinct committees will be elected, as per request of the State Executive Committee.

H. F. PIERATT, Chairman.

The stump speaker is abroad in the land, and the country is safe at last.

Beauty, bicycles and bloomers are creating more stir than the Cleveland third term idea.

"Sam Jones is saying some very sensible things about sound money," says the Louisville Commercial. Sam's a pretty sensible fellow, anyhow.

A Washington heiress married a blacksmith some five years ago, and now she wants a divorce. An anvil chorus with a "Kid" accompaniment didn't suit the haughty beauty.

The dispatches say the price of beer has gone up in Atlanta. We suppose the Kentucky editors drank up all the "red licker" in town during their visit and consequently hauled the beer market.

It is now asserted that Joseph was the first man who engineered a corner in wheat. If we are to have Scriptural authority for the establishment of trusts, we may just as well stop fighting them.—Ex.

Ex-President Harrison is laying his wires for the Republican nomination in '06; and it's a shrewd guesser that can tell who will knock the Presidential persimmon—Harrison, Reed, McKinley or Morton.

The Supreme Court of Texas said that there was no law against prize fighting in that State. First blood for the sports. Gov. Culbertson Tuesday convened the Legislature of that State in special session, and it's dollars to doughnuts that he will deliver a knock-out blow in round two.

The Cuban patriots have declared themselves free and elected a President. The United States should recognize this little republic and lend them aid in throwing off the yoke of Spanish tyranny. Spain recognized and lent aid to the Confederacy; now is our time to retaliate.

Everybody invited to be present.

The base ball season of the National League has closed and the Louisville team brought up the rear. 'Rah for Louisville!

Attorney General Harmon has given as his opinion that there would be no prize fighting in the Indian Territory, or in any other Territory over which the United States has jurisdiction.

Saturday Lieut. Gen. John M. Schofield was retired from active service and placed on the retired list. Gen. Nelson A. Miles will probably succeed as Commander of the army of the United States.

W. W. McGuire has received word from Mr. Walbridge, of New York, that something definite will be done soon in railroad circles relative to the Eastern Kentucky coal fields. Now for some chestnuts.

Col. John P. Salyers, says that before he enters the race for Congress he wants to send his lieutenants one term to the school of political trickery at Hazel Green. John, you are wrong, my boy. You should patronize home institutions. West Liberty has a political trickery school of high excellence, heavily endowed, of long standing and with a corps of instructors who perform their duties with a celerity more perfect than a devotee of the art of hocus pocus and ledgerdom.

The Cincinnati Enquirer asks, "Will Cleveland run again?" If he can read the signs of the times he will devote his time to fishing for fish instead of fishing for political honors. The unwritten law is that two terms are enough for any man, and we would have been perfectly satisfied if Grover had been honored with but one.

We publish the appointments of ex-Congressman Thos. Turner in another column, and in a private letter from him to the editor of this paper he says that he is willing to come and address the voters of this section in the interest of the ticket. Col. Turner is a polished and graceful speaker and is one of the best posted men on the issues of the day in the State. As the representative of this Congressional district he did much for this section, and has hosts of friends in the mountains who will be glad to have him with us and hear him expound Democratic doctrine. Come up by all means, Colonel, and we will whoop up a crowd for you.

Under the startling headlines, "Eastern Kentucky Democrats Refuse to Take the Hardin Free Silver Gag," the Louisville Post devotes two columns to telling how, in Breathitt county, half a dozen Democrats say they won't vote for Hardin. As Breathitt county does not constitute the whole of Eastern Kentucky, or a few disgruntled Democrats constitute the entire party in that county, we fail to see how the Post can reach the conclusion that all of Eastern Kentucky is going to bolt Hardin. The mountain people are solid for the Democratic ticket and will vote it from "end to end," irrespective of their views on the financial question.

SAM'S SHORT SERMONS.

Any Democrat who shall stay at home on election day and not vote, gives half a vote for the Republicans. No good Democrat could afford to be "chinchy" now.

Since Bradley showed the white feather, Republicans seem to be crestfallen. Their lion turned out to be nothing but a jack rabbit, so far as nerve is concerned.

Why don't the Republican orators tell the people the truth? Why don't they tell them that there is not a State in the Union under Republican government in as good financial condition as Kentucky? Why don't they tell them that every Republican county in the State is a pauper county?—Montgomery County Times.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Last Sunday night, as Newt. Womack was serving supper to the prisoners in the West Liberty jail, he was overpowered and all but one of the jail birds made their escape. Joice Williams, charged with attempted rape, and Mess Perkins and ——— Pence, charged with the murder of Arnett at White Oak not long since, were among the number that got away.

Preacher Pieratt, who has been very ill of rheumatism for quite a while, has so far convalesced as to be able to ride around horseback, though he is still quite weak. He contemplates a visit to Blackwater today (Thursday) unless he has a bucket, and looks forward to increased health and vigor, "a consummation devoutly to be wished" by his host of friends in and about Hazel Green.

Some day, some time, some where, you will probably know what it is to have sick headache. Do not go to the drug store and take a powerful liver pill, for there is something better to be had at no extra cost. Ask for a box of Kinnon's Tonic Liver Pills (and Pellets). Simple but always effective; two separate medicines, one to cleanse the liver and the other to purify the blood, build up the strength and the appetite. Ask your druggist about it and get a free trial dose of the pills.

John Hampton, who removed from Lacy Creek to Stillwater some time last winter, is said to have had a direct interview with an angel of the Lord on Tuesday evening of this week. He was at work in his cornfield when the angel appeared to him, and he talked with it. In relating his experience Mr. Hampton tells a very remarkable story, and as he has always been a man of veracity, his words should carry conviction to all who are without the pale of paradise. Mr. Hampton has the advantage of many, as the world is filled with people who will not even get within hailing distance of a second-hand ghost.

While on the train from Mt. Sterling to Rothwell last Saturday, the editor met with a lady carrying in her arms an apparently very small baby. On inquiring of the lady as to the child's weight, he was informed that it was just two months old and weighed exactly three pounds and one ounce. The mother and father, both of whom were on the car, were of average size, and the baby perfectly healthy, though suffering a slight attack of croup at the time. We prescribed spirits of frummenti in small doses and at the station parted with our new made friends and the tiniest baby we have ever seen. The gentleman in the case, we believe, was "a party by the name of Johnson" and the lady his devoted wife. The little one attracted the attention of all on board and was considered a petite curio of the Loman family. May she live long and grow in grace, even though she should not in size and weight.

"Jealousy."
We know that it sounds queerish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment that has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails, this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But many of the patient who has been given up by his physician who has again received life through treatment of the Electropoise.

Price Sewell, of Jackson, was in town last Monday, and left in the training stable his stallion Gray Eagle, sired by Director, the famous Lexington horse.

Jack Frost, with his icy breath, paid this season a visit this week and the beans, melon vines, tomatoes, etc., turned black and curled up and died in consequence.

Dr. Luckhart, of Ezel, President of the Fair Association, arrived Monday with his string of horses. He says the prospects for a successful Fair were never better.

Business is picking up, the merchants are getting in their fall and winter stocks, and the enterprising and successful merchant will not be slow to let the people know what he has to sell through the medium of a tasty and well written advertisement.

The blue birds will soon cease to fly their little twit, the snowflakes will fly and the young man who has "blown in" his summer wages on wine, women and song will find that life in Kentucky without an overcoat is not what it's cracked up to be.

We took a drive out as far as Stillwater last Sunday and noticed that there were some very bad places in the road. Have them repaired, gentlemen, and the teamsters will quit "cusin'" and the people will rise up and call you blessed.

Dyspepsia

Mrs. Judge Peck Tells How She Was Cured

Sufferers from Dyspepsia should read the following letter from Mr. H. M. Peck, wife of Judge Peck, a Justice of the Peace, and a writer connected with the Associated Press:

"By a deep sense of gratitude for the great relief I have received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I have been led to write the following statement for the benefit of sufferers who may be similarly afflicted. For 15 years I have been afflicted with dyspepsia and indigestion."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Almost everything I ate would distress me. I tried different treatments and medicines, but failed to reduce relief. Two years ago a friend prevailed upon me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle I noticed helped me, so I continued taking it. It did me so much good that my friends spoke of the improvement. I have received great benefit from it.

Cured by ElectroPoise.

A LADY WHO SUFFERED DEATH AL MOST WITH RICK HEADACHE.

It Relieves Neuralgia Pains Every Time and is a Certain Cure for the Exasperating Grip.

I will say that my wife suffered death with sick headache for years and the ElectroPoise has almost cured her. It relieves neuralgia pains every time, and I do not doubt but that persistent use will entirely cure that trouble. I have used it for ordinary fevers on our children of 3 to 6 years of age with most marked success thirty-six hours usually resulting in a decided cure.

As for myself, I have had occasion to treat for a violent attack of a gripe broke it up completely in forty-eight hours, an hour's treatment locally between the eyes and all night treatment at high power on the ankle, and continued through the next day did the work. The ElectroPoise is the sovereign remedy for colds and all forms of prostration from over work. Yours very truly,

Praying is expensive business when it is done as it should be.

We pray for nobody, unless we pray for everybody on the globe.

People who blow their own horns make poor music for other folks.

The man who dishonors God will live so that he can respect himself.

Unless praying is done on praying ground, it is breath wasted.

It was Job's faith in God that made him rich, not his sheep and cattle.

Coal Bank in Breathitt County.

George Miller has just opened a bank of bituminous coal in the Flint Ridge neighborhood of Breathitt county which is sixteen feet thick. This is the largest bank ever opened in that section of Kentucky. The coal is on the proposed route of the Lexington and Eastern railroad, if extended from Jackson to Big Stone Gap.

The out-croftment continues to spread in Eastern Kentucky. A company is now preparing to bore in Clark county.

Harlan county recently sentenced one murderer to death and has a chance to keep up the good work. Mat Belcher, an ex-convict, brutally shot down and fatally wounded William Jackson, a negro, on the streets of Harlan.

"Mr. Tolliver Young, of Sharpshurg," says the Maysville Bulletin, "has a plug of tobacco that was found in the pockets of Gen. Roger Hanson after the latter was killed at the battle of Stone Gap. The clothing worn by Gen. Hanson at the time of his death are still in the possession of his family, and have been preserved just in the condition when taken from his body."

The Richmond Register tells of the oldest rail fence in the State. On the farm of Mr. Samuel Hunter, three miles northeast of town, on Otter creek, stands the oldest rail fence, perhaps, in Eastern Kentucky. It was built in the summer of 1815, the posts being constructed of red cedar and the rails of white oak. Large elms and wild cherries nearly two feet through and sixty feet high have sprung up alongside of it since it was built. It is still in a good state of preservation, and bids fair to do duty as a barrier to stock for many years yet to come.

There is not a church in the State that has a more interesting history than the old Providence Baptist church in Clark county, where the old Boone's Creek Baptist Association held its annual meeting last month. This place of worship was founded by a band of good people who came to Kentucky from the eastern side of the Alleghenies when this "old Commonwealth" was a wilderness and the Indians held full sway. This noble band of Christians came under the leadership of a pastor whose name was Robert Elkin, and whose memory should be revered so long as the country stands. He underwent many hardships, toiled meaningfully and was successful in an undertaking that seemed an impossible one. He was given a tract of land what is now known as Elkin, and there the rude cabin temple of Christ was erected. In this old house these primitive people worshiped God for many years and were happy in their simple life of labor and love. Though time has wrought many changes the simple old Providence worship place stands without blemish as a monument to the noble people who built it there.

Kentucky Democratic State Platform.

FIRST—The Democracy of Kentucky to convention assembled congratulate the country upon the repeal of the McKinley tariff law, and upon the evidence we have on every hand of returning prosperity, under the operations of reduced and equalized taxation; and we denounce as fraught with danger and disaster the threat of our Republican adversaries to re-establish a protective tariff and to re-institute a policy of unequal taxation, which in connection with general misgovernment by the Republican party culminated in the business panic of 1893.

SECOND—The Democratic party, which has always stood for the separation of church and state, for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom, does not hesitate to condemn all efforts to create a distinction among citizens because of differences in faith as repugnant to an enlightened age and abhorrent to the instincts of American freedom.

THIRD—We realize without qualification the principles and policies declared by the National Democratic Platform of 1892, and declare that our present National Democratic Administration is entitled to the thanks of the party for its honest, courageous and statesmanlike management of public affairs and for its expression of confidence in the Democracy and patriotism of President Grover Cleveland and his distinguished co-adviser and Secretary, John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky.

FOURTH—When the Democratic party came into power in 1867 the bonded indebtedness of Kentucky was over $1,600,000. The nominal value of the assets of the state fund was about $5,000,000, made up in part of internal improvements that cost over and were carried at a valuation of $4,800,000, but which yielded at that time no net revenue, and were worth in cash only about $500,000, thus showing an actual deficit in the sinking fund as compared with our indebtedness of about $1,000,000. Since 1867 the bonded indebtedness has been reduced to $650,000, and the available assets of the sinking fund more than equal that sum.

For the purpose of the annual appropriation for support of our charitable institutions from $250,000 in 1867 to $300,000 in 1893, and while improving our judicial system by increasing the number of courts and the frequency of their terms we have been compelled to increase our expenditures, one of the greatest items of which is the cost of criminal prosecutions and of the increase in connection with which is that the increase is greatest in districts controlled by Republican officials. We have nevertheless been able to decrease the current rate of taxation for general revenue purposes from twenty cents on the one hundred dollars of taxable property in 1867 to fifteen cents in 1893. The Democratic majority have voluntarily increased the annual expenditures for the support of common schools from $250,000 in 1867 to about $2,000,000 in 1893, and by wisely providing separate schools for the two races are today giving to the children of the colored race opportunities for education they nowhere else enjoy.

In the face of unexampled difficulties the Democratic party has succeeded in wholly withdrawing convict labor from competition with free labor and in abolishing the practice inherited from the Republican party of leasing the convicts to parties interested solely in making profit out of their labor, and in adopting the modern and improved methods by which the state and its officers are made directly responsible for the management of our state prisons and under which our penitentiary system has been and is being greatly improved.

During the twenty-eight years the people have intrusted the Democratic party with the control of the state government, its administration has been characterized by the strictest economy and integrity, and in this regard we invite comparison with any Republican state government.

FIFTH—We express our confidence in the wisdom and honesty with which the present state administration has conducted the affairs of our state government.

DISTINGUISHED ATTENTIONS

Shown Kentucky Editors by the Press and People While in Atlanta.

The Atlanta Journal of last Thursday devoted three columns to the Kentucky Press Association and an account of "Kentucky Day" at the exposition. Here is part of what it said:

This is Kentucky Press Day at the exposition and all over the grounds can be found the blue and yellow colors of the Kentucky Press Association.

There are two hundred of the editors on the grounds and they are doing the exposition in royal style.

Their special came in over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad and, although they had a long night's ride, they were fresh and happy when they gathered at the Oriental hotel at 9 o'clock this morning. They were met there by Messrs. W. G. Cooper, I. W. Avery and Charles E. Harmon, who represent the exposition directors.

With happy smiles on all faces the Kentucky editors marched into the exposition grounds at the main entrance.

Their speech making took place at the roof garden on the mineral and forestry building. One side of the garden was turned over to the party and there the speeches were made.

Mr. W. G. Cooper introduced Vice President W. A. Hemphill, who made a brief speech of welcome.

Mr. Ion B. Nall, President of the Association, responded to Vice President Hemphill.

"We are glad to be here," he said.

"We are glad to bring our one hundred editors here and when we go back I am sure that we shall be enabled to say to our readers 'great is Atlanta and magnificent her exposition.'"

"Suffering as I am today," continued Mr. Nall, "I am not able to make an address, but I have arranged to have some of our members speak to you."

Mr. C. M. Meacham, Chairman of the Executive Committee, was introduced. He joined in the appreciation of the courtesies extended to his party.

In speaking of those present Mr. Meacham said that they had about one hundred men, fifty women, and some future editors among the small children and some musicians to make music for the crowd.

In referring to the whisky of Kentucky he said that the Kentucky editors were a sober crowd and that they labored hard to elevate the press of the State.

Mr. Jack J. Spalding, general counsel of the exposition, was the next speaker. He said that he was at a disadvantage in being asked as an humble lawyer to address brainy editors.

Mr. Spalding said Atlanta extended a welcome to all editors, but especially to all Kentuckians, because the Kentucky delegation in Congress had given material aid in securing an appropriation for the exposition.

President Nall introduced Mr. B. D. Ringo, of the Hartford Herald, who said that not half of the Kentuckians who were in the habit of taking turning a loose and calumny for subscription, he was ready to say that the columns of the Kentucky press were open to the exposition.

"Our hearts and our columns are yours. Take charge of them," he said, as he concluded his remarks.

Dr. David T. Day, of the mineral exhibit, was introduced.

He told of the exhibit in the mineral building from the State of Kentucky, the first State to promise an exhibit to his building.

The display of coal from Kentucky was a tribute to the combined wealth and the development of industries that was something to be proud of.

Dr. B. E. Fernow, of the forestry exhibit, said that he wanted to add a few words of welcome to what had been said.

"Kentucky," he said, "is second in the destruction of its natural resources."

An invitation was read to the association from Mr. W. G. Vinceneller, of the Arkansas exhibit, to visit his display in the agricultural building.

After this the association held a business meeting.
